Facing The Elements

Two lonely snowmen are left to face the elements of sunshine and rising temperatures following Monday's two inch snow fall in Appomattox County. Like their millions of predecessors, today's snowmen cannot long survive the spring-like weather which returned to the area Tuesday.

Town Budget Shows Increase

Appomattox Town budget shows an increase of $122,827 over the 1974 budget of $142,834.

The 1974 budget calls for an expenditure of $214,082 with the majority of the increase being attributed to reimbursable costs of furnishing electricity to the Appomattox County School System. That cost, $130,000 is budgeted at the proposed charge rate of Virginia Electric Power Company and may not materialize as a bonofied expenditure if the rate increase is denied by the State Corporation Commission.

Other increases in the budget are minumum and in fact some areas show a decrease when compared with previous year's budgets.

The only other substantial increase is shown in the proposed expenditures for the street department where new sidewalks. curbs, and guttering is proposed for the coming year.

An advertised copy of the 1975 budget is shown elsewhere in this addition. The budget was adopted by the Town council at a special meeting December 30, 1974.

Program Discontinued For Soybean Producers

No loan program will be available to Appomattox County farmers on next year's production of soybeans, flaxseed, dry edible beans, honey and gum naval stores, according to James R. Ford, jr., Chairman of the Appomattox County ASC Committee. The Agriculture Department recently announced the change along with other program changes.

"Little use has been made of the loan program for these crops," said Mr. Ford, "mainly because prices are two to three times the loan levels." He indicated continuation of loan support on these commodities when not needed would require unnecessary administrative expenditures.

The Department also announced the elimination of identical maturity dates for wheat and feed grain loans, in order to assure producers more flexibility in marketing crops under loan. Loans will mature 12 months from the first day of the month in which the loan is made.

National average loan rates in effect in 1974 for wheat and feed grains will continue at the same levels for the 1975 crops.

Ron Wilkenson, chairman of the planning committee for CVT will host the first three shows while Margaret Webring, co-chairman of the Multi-Media Committee will host the final program.

Each presentation will have a specified purpose, all aimed at informing the public about the Process.

Tentatively slated as guests on the show are Rev. Deryl B. Holiday of New Hope Baptist Church at Vera who is scheduled to appear January 16 to discuss human relations and the future of the Process, and Will Cook, News Editor of the Times-Virginian, who is scheduled to appear January 14 to discuss communication.

The series will begin January 13 with Art Middleton, President of the Lynchburg Chamber of Commerce, and Tom Seamon of the Consortium of Colleges as guests. Monday's objective will be to give background information on the Process. Why CVT was organized, who participates, what the long range objectives are and other information pertaining to the organization.

Tuesday's show will also have Dr. Arnold Oates, Division Superintendant of Campbell County Schools as a guest. Dr. Oates and Cook will delve into education and communication, and how the two are interrelated with most of the other priorities of the Process.

Leo Molinaro, Process consultant from Cities, and Ted Harris are slated to appear on Wednesday's program. They will examine the inner workings of the process, explain goals setting, define the time element and strategies, and present implementation plans.

Larry Janow of Amherst County and Cilla Brown of CVT will join Mrs. Webring and Holiday Thursday. In addition to human relations, the group will look at the future of the Process using slides and possible filmed interviews, and explain the relationship of CVT to the citizens.

The television series is all a part of getting Central Virginia Tomorrow to the people, so the people can get to Central Virginia Tomorrow.

After 30 years of service with the DMV, Mr. Smith's last position was Southern Regional Manager. His fellow employees presented him with a monogrammed sweater and an inscribed plaque for his den. During the month of December, Mr. and Mrs. Smith were honor guests at other parties in his region.
